Death Toll of Yanks 5 in Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Searchers have found the body of another American serviceman from a U.S. Army helicopter shot down by the Communists Sunday. This brought the toll to five Americans dead and four missing in three air crashes in two days.

The body, that of an enlisted man, was found about a mile from the wreckage of the helicopter, which plunged into the jungle near the Laotian border 280 miles northeast of Saigon. He apparently had walked the mile despite mortal wounds.

Charred bodies of two U.S. Army officers, another enlisted man and a Vietnamese officer were found earlier at the crash site.

Maj. Robert F. Cornell, commander of the 8th U.S. Helicopter Squadron, and a second Vietnamese officer survived.

The Pentagon announced in Washington the Americans aboard the helicopter were Lt. Col. Anthony J. Tencza, Fairfax, Va.; Cornell, of Daleville, Ala.; Chief WO Joseph Goldberg, Sanford, N.C.; Spec. 5 James E. Lane, Spring Lake, N.C.; and Spec. 5 Harold L. Guthrie, Burlington, N.C.

Cornell, found Sunday night wandering in the jungle about five miles from the wreckage, suffered only bruises. The Vietnamese survivor had been wounded by Communist bullets.

It was Cornell's second injury as a result of Red gunfire. He was shot in the heel May 23 while flying a helicopter over the Mekong River delta.

Planes continued searching a 900-square mile area for a U.S. Air Force transport that disappeared Sunday en route from Saigon to Ban Me Thuot, 10 miles northeast of here. Bad flying weather over the mountainous terrain hampered the search for the C123, which had four American crewmen.

The fifth American air victim perished Monday in the crash of a two-engine Vietnamese Air Force transport. His name has not been released. Twenty-two Vietnamese also died.

$641,000 in Army Jobs for State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed and sent to President Kennedy Monday a $1,455,672,500 military construction authorization bill which includes $641,000 for Arkansas projects.

The bill is for $68.5 million less than an earlier House version and $5.1 million more than the original Senate bill.

The Arkansas projects are: Blytheville Air Force Base: $50,000 for mobile radar control facilities.

Little Rock Air Force Base: $415,000 for operation, hospital and other medical facilities.

Pine Bluff (Arsenal): 35 units of military housing at undetermined cost.

The bill also includes authorization for these National Guard armories: Crossett $57,000; De Queen $57,000; and Harrisburg $62,000.

Three presidents of the United States have died on July 4: John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in 1826 and Monroe in 1831.

Non-Violent Policy Goal of Negroes

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Negroes studied nonviolent integration techniques today in the wake of repeated hints of more demonstrations in this troubled south-west Georgia city.

Daily workshops in nonviolent protests were scheduled by Negro leaders. Albany's police force, backed by a unit of state troopers, was held on a continuing alert.

Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., called Monday night for a "nonviolent protest which will turn albanys upside down."

King's statement came after Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr., on behalf of the city commission, refused to give the Negro leaders an audience. The Negroes had requested a meeting with the commission in an effort to solve long-standing racial issues.

The mayor called the Negro leaders lawbreakers and said the commission would not negotiate with them.

Later King addressed about 2,000 persons at two Negro churches.

Without indicating what form any new demonstrations might take, King said: "We are preparing ourselves spiritually, mentally and physically."

Pension Set Up for Injured Cop

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Hot Springs Pension Board has ruled that Bobby Digby, dismissed from the city police force, will receive a temporary $152 monthly disability pension. Digby was injured last spring in a traffic accident which occurred while he was on duty. He later was dismissed from the force for violation of a six-month probation.

BON VOYAGE

By ALEX JANE BENCHLEY

Lake Michigan lapped the shores in languid rhythm but the Navy Pier bustled with boisterous humanity. People were always going somewhere away from Chicago.

Danny, worldly in white slacks and a tweed jacket, tapped his crepe-soled foot against a box of freight. He jerked his white hat lower over his anxious brown eyes. Jane, cute in a white skirt and dark jacket, beat a nervous tattoo with her white-horn pumps on the dock.

Mr. Swart cast a worried glance in their direction from his little dock office. He was a kind old gentleman who ran a small ticket service, and a friend of Danny's father. Swart approached them and asked Jane if she had bought her ticket yet to Mackinac Island.

She whacked the palm of her hand against her forehead. "Heavens! In all the excitement I forgot Danny, you got yours?" He nodded. She rummaged through her purse. Aghast, she squealed, "Dan-nee I've only got a dollar!"

He pushed back his hat in amazement. "Janie, you're kidding me!"

Swart smiled wisely and looked up at the cargo being lifted onto the ship. A loud blast of the whistle sounded a warning.

Shaking his head sadly, he walked back to his office.

Danny stared at his young companion. "Honest, Janie, didn't you bring any more money? Are you joking?"

"I forgot to check that one item when I left home in such a hurry."

"W-w-e c-cant't elope?" Danny stammered.

She looked up at him and shook her head. "No, Danny," she said wistfully, as she turned to look briefly at the ship. Then she swung back to him. "Maybe it's for the best. We're too young to get married."

Danny studied a moment, swallowed and then said, "Maybe you're right. We can wait."

Danny turned anxious eyes to the ship. Most of the passengers were already at the rail, waving goodbye. The last blast of the deeply mournful whistle bellowed. He looked in helpless stupidity at Jane. Then at his ticket. He grabbed her hand and together they ran to Swart's office.

"Dan-nee I've only got a dollar!"

"We're not going this time, Mr. Swart," Danny said, handing back his ticket. He looked warmly at Jane, close to tears. "I don't have enough money for both of us."

He blushed a little. "It wouldn't be right to go alone. It wouldn't be... the same thing." He couldn't say anymore.

"Your folks know you were going?" he asked.

Danny looked at Jane, and Jane looked at Danny. "None of your business," said Danny gruffly.

Swart grinned and didn't even get mad.

Swart returned the money. He watched them run to the end of the pier. There they stood, looking at the ship slowly moving out.

Wistfully, Jane gazed at the disappearing ship. Her hand, held in Danny's with a fierce affection, loosened and slipped away.

He said, "If we can't see the island now, we've just got to postpone it awhile. Let's pool our money and draw our sorrows, Janie. I saw a place called 'The Gay Dragon' over on 12th street."

Swart watched them walk away. He thought, it's no disgrace to lose your nerve.

Swart thought of Danny and Jane at The Gay Dragon on 12th Street. He had been there and remembered the tantalizing taps on the long polished bar. He made a wry face.

All those crazy sodas and Gott in Himmel, those gooccy banana splits! What won't high school kids put in their stomachs!

Farm Labor Count Up at Hope Station

A total of 10,769 farm workers stopped at the Arkansas Information Center on Highway 67 west of Hope during the year of 1961.

A. B. Martin, local manager, told Hope Kiwanis Club last week.

This is an increase of more than 4,000 over the year 1960 and 10 times as many compared to 1959 when the center opened.

This is one of 12 such farm information centers operated in the U.S. under sponsorship of the Employment Security Division.

Migratory farm workers register for work commitments, and obtain work and crop conditions throughout the Midwest and the Great Lakes regions free of charge. The center also provides sanitary facilities and restrooms, showers and washrooms for men and women, and shelter and parking for autos and trucks.

This is a public service provided at no charge by the State of Arkansas. Mr. Martin told the Kiwanians. The information center is open from March 1 through December 1 of each year. The peak months are in the springtime and as many as 3,200 workers registered in a single month.

The program was arranged by Teddy Jones, local manager of the district ESD office in Hope. Guests of the club were Lester Wade, Andrew Avery and Raymond Taylor.

What Others Think—

"One of the ten most admired men in the world"

From Lebanon (Pa.) Daily News*

Gov. Orval E. Faubus

Governor Faubus represented his state at the National Governor's Conference this month at Hershey, Pa. A nearby daily newspaper gave their readers the following introduction to their distinguished guest from Arkansas.

Voters of Arkansas showed their confidence in Orval E. Faubus by electing him to an unprecedented fourth term on July 26, 1960. Seventeen months after he called out the National Guard to maintain peace at Little Rock's Central High School, the Gallup Poll selected him as one of the ten most admired men in the world.

A rural school teacher at 18, Gov. Faubus served as a circuit clerk and recorder; a combat veteran of World War II; postmaster, publisher, state highway commissioner, and governor's administrative assistant prior to being elected governor.

Under Gov. Faubus the per capita income in Arkansas reached an all-time high in 1961, double the national average gain. Farm income rose 28% over 1960, while nationally there was a 13% decrease.

Manufacturing income rose 15% over 1960, in comparison to a national gain of only 10%. A total of 621 new or expanded industries help provide 60,902 new jobs.

Park, recreational, hospital and state industrial school facilities and programs have also been enlarged and modernized. Born Jan. 7, 1910; married and the father of one son.

Mrs. Robert Allen Hinton

Miss Melissa Holder and Robert Allen Hinton exchanged their marriage vows at 8 o'clock July 13 in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, Bartlesville, Okla. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holder, Jr. of Hope, Ark., formerly of Little Rock. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hinton of Hamlin, Kan.

Rev. Dave Poling performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Elizabeth Wagner, organist. Miss Mary Allen Holder, sister of the bride, was the candlelighter.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of embroidered satin. The bodice was designed with a bateau neckline with long pointed sleeves.

The skirt was fashioned in a bell shape. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a white satin Bible topped with a Catleya white orchid.

my husband's best friend and have been these past three years. His wife is not much to write home about. Colorless full of woman-talk which bores me stiff, and cloyingly sweet. He kisses and makes over her a lot but tells me privately that I'm his woman. My husband and I go to their home often and they come to ours. They have six children, we three. If it weren't so tragic it would be funny. Whatever shall I do? —Broken-hearted

Dear Broken: You'll be worse than broken if you continue this illicit affair. The other man is a cad to sell both his own wife and best friend short. And you're little short of a fool to fall for his line. Close the door before it's too late and cultivate your husband for a change. Love begets love. Care about him and he'll care about you. Protect your children, if not yourself. True love protects, never betrays.

Dear Helen: After a month of beating pavements, scanning want ad columns and pestering heads of personnel departments, I've landed my first job and am scared as a hunter who sights his first deer. When I marched out of chapel last month with a Bachelor of Arts degree, the world was my oyster. Not so now. I settled for the lofty post of receptionist in a law office and glad to get it. Please give me a pep talk to restore my sadly deflated ego. Also, warn your readers that jobs no longer grow on bushes —Weary Joe

Dear Weary: Far better to start at the bottom and work up than at the top and fall down. Any job is what you make it. Put your heart into this one and the day will come when you'll see your name as junior partner on the door now that you have your B.A., go after a law degree. Familiarize yourself with the different branches of the law, choose the one which appeals to you the most, then study at night in preparation for the bar exams. If you don't succeed, try again. I know a lawyer who failed three times and passed the fourth and became a Supreme Court Judge.

Rift in Their Lute Is Mama

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have two problems: The boy I intend to marry and his mother. She hovers over him like a hen spreading her feathers, clucking and clucking at the first fancied danger.

The reason dates back to a childhood injury suffered when my boy friend was seven; a bad leg burn the still carries the terrible scar which causes him to limp. His mother's incessant reference to it makes him doubly self-conscious. As a consequence, he talks haltingly, is stiff and shy with everybody except me.

My sympathy must have been evident from the moment we met for he talked as never before to anyone, not even his mother.

"This upset her. He is as possessive about me as she about him. In a way I find it flattering to know somebody cares that much for me.

Being acutely aware of his sensitivity, I bend over backward to talk things out with him but sometimes it just doesn't work. Last evening I lost my temper and told him to grow up. He looked at me as if I had struck him a mortal blow. That look haunted me all night.

Our argument was over a ear he claims is his. I know it belongs to his mother for she drives it, carries the title to it in her name and pays the insurance which, because of his injury, he can't get.

I told him to quit playing Mr. Big. He shouted that he was telling me the truth. Why I should deliberately want to hurt him is beyond me, except maybe I was hitting at his mother. They live alone and he is her pride and joy. She's not going to let him grow up if she can help it. How can I cut the silver cord and still retain her friendship?—Depressed

Dear Depressed: You've got to be a sweetheart, wife and mother, with the emphasis on mother, if you want to free your boy friend. And it's going to take a lot more tact than you showed when you told him to grow up. That was the surest way to send him home to Mama.

If you're clever, you'll take the oblique approach. Center it around a favorite dish of his. After he's eaten his fill, seat him in a comfortable chair and casually introduce the name of some man you both know who has shown great initiative despite a domineering wife or mother. Then stress the fact that it was your friend's courage and independent spirit which first attracted you. Give him a sense of importance. Defer to him. Praise his judgment, not just this one evening, but every evening thereafter. Tell his mother, in his presence, what a wonderful son she has. Treat her as an ally, not a foe. Assume that she (like you), wants him to be a person in his own right.

Dear Helen: I am in love with

Yanks Beef Up Lead in American

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as if they didn't have enough going their way to start with, the American League leading New York Yankees also have the schedule working for them.

The Yankees, slowly moving away from the pack, over their expanding lead to a dominance over the weaker clubs in the league. What's more, the leaders have more games remaining with the lower three teams than the principal rivals for the No. 1 spot, Los Angeles and Cleveland, now tied for second.

Against Boston, Kansas City and Washington, the last three teams in the standings, New York has a 17-4, 310 record. Los Angeles is 25-11, 34 and Cleveland is 16-12, 300.

Which means the Yanks not only lead these three more often, they also have more remaining with them. New York has 33 games left, Los Angeles 18 and Cleveland 21 with the also-rans. This could be indicative of a number of things, one of them being that the Yanks may be a little harder to catch.

New York used that beat-the-weak-teams formula Monday to push its lead to 3½ games, beating Kansas City 3-1. Los Angeles slipped back to a tie for second with idle Cleveland when Washington's Don Nidolph threw a four-hitter and beat the Angels 4-1 in the only other American

Utility Man Is New Hero of Pirates

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Johnny Logan of the Pittsburgh Pirates is a utility infielder—a breed of player not usually in the limelight. Today, Johnny Logan was a Pirate hero.

Filling in at third base for the injured Don Hoak, Logan hit a bases-loaded home run Monday night in the Pirates' 5-2 victory over St. Louis.

Recounting his first extra base hit of the season and his first home run since he was a Milwaukee Brave in 1960, Logan said:

"I hit a high fast ball away from me. I was just trying for principal rivals for the No. 1 spot, Los Angeles and Cleveland, now tied for second.

Hope Drops 2 Out of 3 at Ft. Smith

The Hope Junior American Legion journeyed to Fort Smith on Saturday and after having lost to the Warrenton team, they were guests, in time to play a twin bill against two of the host's three teams. They were defeated in the first two games by Midwest 13-3 and by The Vehicle 4-0, but came back on Sunday afternoon to beat Kerwin's 11-7.

In the opener Hope first scored in the second when first batter Jerry Churchill walked and then advanced to third on two wild pitches and scored when Danny Key, lined a single. The locals came batting back in the sixth as Churchill doubled and scored on Dan Hatfield's single. Hatfield stole second and came in on Key's double.

The locals managed nine hits from pitcher Perkins. The big hitter for the game was Jabo Horton with a double and 2 singles for four times up, followed by Key and Churchill with a double and a single for three trips; Burnley was one for two and Hatfield a single.

Home's Burnley allowed nine hits, walked seven and struck out five.

In the nightcap Hope was unable to score but they managed four hits coming from George Jones a double, and a single a piece for Ronnie Barksdale, Dan Hatfield and Mutt Wassell.

Carl McMurrey yielded six hits while striking out eight and walking only one.

In the Sunday afternoon game the team came back to take Kerwin's for an 11-7 victory.

The locals brought in three in the first when with bases loaded by Horton, who tripped and walked, Churchill and Burnley, a wild pitch advanced each and the latter two were sent in by Key's single. Horton and Jones made the score 5-1 at the end of the first inning. The third saw three more with Burnley and Key who walked, coming in on a passed ball, an error, and a sacrifice. Wassell was then sent around by an error and singles by Horton and Jones. Hatfield picked up one more in the fifth inning on two errors and two sacrifices.

The last inning brought two when Churchill doubled and was sent home by a triple from Burnley, who made it in or a passed ball. Horton with a triple and a single. Key two singles, a triple from Burnley, and a double each for Churchill and Jimmy Bush, and one single each for Jones, Barksdale and Robey made the 10 hits for the locals.

Starting pitcher Gus Robey, who gave up three hits, walked two and struck out two, was relieved in the third by Bush, who struck out five, allowed three hits and walked none.

Pirates Led by Clemente Whip Cards

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente thought he should have been voted the National League's most valuable player two years ago when he helped Pittsburgh win the pennant by batting .314. But Pirate shortstop Dick Groat, who won the batting title with .325 got the award.

Clemente thought he should have received the award last year when he led the league with a .351 batting average. But the Pirates finished sixth and Frank Robinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds gained the honor.

So this year Clemente figures the only chance he has to win that coveted title is for him to top the batting title again and Pittsburgh to win the pennant. Both Roberto and the Pirates are making a determined bid to do just that.

With Clemente hitting safely in his 14th consecutive game, and utility infielder Johnny Logan coming through with a grand slam homer, the Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 Monday night to inch within four games of the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers. It was Pittsburgh's 17th victory in their last 21 games.

The second place San Francisco Giants edged out the New York Mets 3-2 to narrow the Dodgers' margin to two games while the Milwaukee Braves behind the six-hit pitching of southpaw Bob Hendley, blanked the Cincinnati Reds 3-0.

Rain forced the postponement of a Chicago Cub-Coll game scheduled at Houston. The Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phils were not scheduled.

In the only games scheduled in the American League, the first place New York Yankees defeated Kansas City to open a 3½ game lead over the Los Angeles Angels, who were beaten 4-1 by Washington and fell into a second place tie with Cleveland.

Clemente's hit Monday figured prominently in the Pirates' winning rally. Ray Sadecki of the Cards held a 2-1 lead when Groat opened the sixth with a walk and Clemente singled. After Dick Sturtevant flied out, Bob Skinner walked and Logan cleaned the bases with a homer, his first extra base hit of the season. The blast enabled Al McBean to register his fourth straight and tenth victory of the season.

Stan Musial of the Cards had three for three, giving him six of the last seven.

Bob Garibaldi, San Francisco's $135,000 bonus pitcher, snuffed out a ninth inning rally by the Mets with one pitch to help the Giants win the rubber match of the three-game series.

Don Larsen, the second Giant pitcher, had walked the first two BATTING — Johnny Logan, Pirates, playing because regular third baseman Don Hoak was out with an injury, hit a grand slammer to give the Pirates a 5-2 victory over St. Louis.

PITCHING — Bob Hendley,

Mets in the ninth. Stu Miller came in, retired the next two batters, but gave up a run-scoring single to Richie Ashburn, cutting the Giants' lead to 3-2.

Garibaldi, the 20 year old right-hander from Santa Clara who donned a Giant uniform for the first time Sunday, replaced Miller and induced Rod Kanehl to hit his first pitch to Willie Mays in center field to end the game.

Jack Sanford gained his 11th victory for the Giants, made possible in the top of the ninth when pinch-runner Manny Mota scored on Bob Miller's second wild pitch of the inning. Roger Craig, the starter, was charged with his 13th defeat.

Home runs by Joe Adcock and Roy McMillan supported Hendley's masterful pitching, which resulted in his sixth triumph for the Braves. Both homers—McMillan's came with one on—were at the expense of Joey Jay, who had beaten the Braves five straight times since traded to the Reds last year for McMillan. It was Jay's ninth defeat.

Arkadelphia also had two runs for the inning, coming from Grigsby and Estes. Hope scored three more in the third while the visitors managed only two by Fulmer and Braves, allowed six hits, struck out five and did not walk a batter pitching the Braves to a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Estes, Burnett doubled and was batted in by Richard McDowell. Hatfield was on by an error, then came in on a passed ball and McDowell was sent in by a single from Mutt Wassell.
